TANGIER WILL SOON BE CITY OF WORLD

Satisfaction at Conclusion of Negotiations at Madrid Over African Centre

Tangier, Morocco, July 4.—Much satisfaction is expressed in all quarters of Tangier at the conclusion of the negotiations at Madrid in regard to the international status of the city. The details of the scheme are not yet known, but every confidence is felt in the representatives of the great powers, who have had the matter in hand.

The internationalization of Tangier marks another period in the long and eventful history of this old north African port. It is a place of very great antiquity. The Roman Tingtis, which lay, as Tangier does to-day, between the two hills jutting out into the blue waters of the Mediterranean, was its predecessor and boasted even then of a long history. Under Augustus it became a free city, and Claudius made it a Roman colony and capital of Tingitana.

After the fall of the empire it was held successively by Vandals, Byzantines and Arabs, and then in the tenth century fell into the hands of the Portuguese. From the Portuguese it passed for a time to the English as the dowry of Catherine of Braganza on her marriage to Charles II. in 1662, and during part of the time that it was in the possession of England, the garrison was commanded by the notorious Captain Kirke and Bishop Ken was for a time its chaplain.

Tangier was abandoned by the English on account of the expense of its upkeep in 1684, and was immediately seized by the Moors and fortified anew. During the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries it was a noted resort of the Barbary pirates, whose depredations were one of the great "sea risks" of the merchant of those days. For the last fifty years or so its history has been uneventful, and it was not until March 31, 1905, when the Hamburg, with Emperor William on board, escorted by the cruiser Friedrich-Karl, cast anchor in the roadstead that Tangier was once again brought into prominence.

The object of that visit, in the course of which the German emperor made it clear that he looked upon the sultan of Morocco as an absolutely independent sovereign, was only revealed by the publication of the Anglo-French and the Franco-Spanish secret treaties in regard to Morocco some years later, but the event nevertheless filled Europe with speculation.

From that time to this Tangier has been very much in evidence. Now it is internationalized. From the first the negotiations have proceeded harmoniously, and although some details still remain to be settled, nevertheless it would seem that, after many experiments, one of the most ancient cities in the world is about to enter upon a more settled and more useful, if less picturesque, career.

IMMIGRATION FOR ONE WEEK MAKES RECORD

Seven Days Ending July 1 Saw 5458 Homeseekers Detained at Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Man., July 4.—The immigration returns for the week ending July 1 constitute a record for Western Canada during any such period. Of the immigrants detaining in the city of Winnipeg from ocean ports in the Dominion, 5,458 homeseekers have been cleared through the immigration halls in the city. For the first time this year also there appears in the statement of new arrivals a preponderance of foreign over English-speaking homeseekers. So far this year there had always been a satisfactory preponderance of British over all comers, but on this occasion the numbers are 2,638 British and 2,820 from other countries. Two thousand four hundred and seven of the total foreign element are represented by the Ruthenians, Russians, Austrians and Italians.

In detail, the number in nationalities of the arrivals for the week are as follows: British, 2,638; Ruthenians, 1,161; Russians, 746; Norwegians, 373; Austrians, 150; Italians, 50, and Scandinavians, 40. A large number of Southern Europeans are expected at the Union Depot when 599 new homeseekers are scheduled to arrive from Duluth.

MANAGEMENT CHANGES IN BANK OF VANCOUVER

Vancouver, July 4.—J. F. M. Pinkham, of Calgary, will assume the duties of manager of the Douglas street branch of the Bank of Vancouver on Monday next. Mr. Pinkham is a son of Bishop Pinkham, of Calgary, and has had considerable experience as a banker. He was formerly manager of the Imperial Bank at Cranbrook, resigning several years ago to engage in business.

From the Bank of Montreal it was announced to-day that Assistant Manager Wallace, of Vancouver, had been appointed to be manager at Hamilton, Ont., in place of D. O. Wilgress, deceased; while Mr. W. H. Hogg, for eight years manager in Calgary, has been transferred to Vancouver.

INDUSTRIAL WORKER JAIL'D.

Pateron, N. J., July 3.—P. Rick Quinlan, a leader of the I. W. W., was sentenced to-day to prison for not less than two nor more than seven years, and to pay a fine of $500. He was convicted recently of inciting riot among the striking silk mill workers.

This morning the jury in the case of Elizabeth Gurley Flynn tried on a similar charge, had reached no agreement.

TRUNKS CAN NOW BE FREIGHTED ON TRAINS

Chairman of Commission Remembers One on Which Three Cents Per Pound Was Paid.

Ottawa, July 4.—Henceforth trunks can be sent by freight if corded securely. This means that the traveler will not have to pay express charges, which were referred to by Chairman Drayton at the Railway Commission yesterday as enormous. An order was issued by the board after a hearing that trunks be accepted as freight if securely corded.

"The reason this matter is up is the tremendous charges made by the express companies for taking trunks by themselves," said the chairman. "There is one I have in mind where $3.10 was charged, three cents per pound. This is absurd!"

Mr. Ransome contended such baggage was not accepted in any other freight classification and he thought it should not be accepted by Canadian railways unless the trunks were boxed, had steel bands, or were wired to prevent possible pilfering for which the railway company would be held responsible.

"Do you think the ordinary woman packing up a trunk could set to work and wire it so it could not be opened?" asked the chairman. "I see no reason in the world why you should not carry this business." The present limited liability admitted by the railroads of $5 was, he also thought, too low.

An order will go forth ordering trunks to be accepted as freight. A release of liability, however, may be a condition.

MADE MONEY IN CANADA PAID FATHER'S CREDITORS

London, July 4.—Fifteen years ago Mr. Kilby, a well-known Leicester hosiery manufacturer, died, and on his son taking over the business found the estate insolvent. The creditors were paid eleven shillings in the pound and E. C. Kilby, the son, sailed for British Columbia. He made a success as a storekeeper and on returning to Leicester this week paid his father's creditors in full. Mr. Kilby was entertained at dinner last night by his father's former creditors.

LABOR DEPUTATION TO MEET MINISTER

Vancouver Trades Want Workers' Side of Coal Mining Strike Put Before Mr. Crothers.

Vancouver, July 4.—The Trades and Labor Council last night appointed delegates to wait on Hon. T. W. Crothers on his arrival here and put before the minister of labor the men's side of the Vancouver Island coal mining strike. The delegation was appointed following a statement made by Delegate Pettipiece that the premier and attorney-general of the province were on the side of Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Macdonald, and it was thought wise by the council that the minister of labor should not hear only the capitalistic side of the case.

That the Cosmopolitan Employment Agency of this city was the strike-breaking organization controlled by the Canadian Northern railway, and was to a large extent responsible for the introduction of "scabs" at the mines Mr. McVety, was the statement of Mr. McVety. This agency, he declared, had been complained against to the Dominion authorities and the cancellation of its license had been asked.

The result had been an investigation conducted in the office of Malcolm Reid, Dominion immigration officer at this port, and the inquiry was still proceeding behind closed bars.

A letter was read from J. S. Watson, Cambie street, complaining of conditions under which laborers worked in the employ of Foley, Welch & Stewart on the construction of the G. T. P. on the Fraser river. The council referred the letter to the minister of labor and to the British Columbia labor commission.

Don't Try to Cheat Your Feet

Don't pare the corn a little and think the corn will go. Don't daub it with liquids, or use an old-time pad or plaster. That's fooling with a corn. A famous chemist found a way to take out corns completely. Now we own his method.

We call it Blue-jay. It's a little plaster, applied in a jiffy. The moment you use it, all pain is stopped. You forget the corn. In 48 hours take off the plaster and the corns come out. Not a whit of the corn is left. All this is done without any pain or soreness. Every month a million corns are now removed like this. Try it on one of yours.

A in the picture is the soft B & B wax. B steps the pain and keeps the wax from spreading. C wraps around the toe. It is narrowed to be comfortable. D is rubber adhesive to fasten the plaster on.

THE CANADIAN NORTHERN STORY.

As expected, both Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann have denied the story from Ottawa that a scheme is on foot for the acquisition of the Canadian Northern Railway system by the federal government. A year ago one of them denied with equal vigor the report that they were applying to the Ottawa authorities for a subsidy, while as a matter of fact and record they did apply for it, and, of course, obtained it. Last session they again patronized the federal lobby and secured a free gift of sixteen million dollars. This sum, huge though it was, did not meet their requirements, and at the time it was regarded as merely the first instalment. Nevertheless it attracted wide-spread attention and aroused considerable criticism, also insistent demands that parliament be initiated into the mysteries of Canadian Northern finance, demands that were not complied with.

There was more truth than fiction in the despatch from Ottawa yesterday. It is well-known that the wizardry of Sir William Mackenzie for the first time has failed to open the vice-like jaws of the European money market. Were this not true the two magnates and their staff would not have spent so much of their valuable time in the parliamentary lobbies last session. It is also known that the sixteen million dollar gift was inadequate for their requirements, but in consequence of the criticism it provoked the government will scarcely dare to repeat the dose next year. The Canadian people have already assisted this company in subsidies and bond guarantees to the colossal total of $208,000,000, and their patience and generosity have been strained to the breaking point. Still it is absolutely necessary that the transcontinental shall be completed to this coast, and if Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann are not willing to draw upon their vast private resources for this purpose, their only alternatives are to dispose of the system to some other corporation that could complete it or sell it to the government. The latter course would clear the situation wonderfully for Mackenzie and Mann, but it would saddle an enormous responsibility and expense upon the people of Canada. A complaisant government, of course, would be expected to pay a generous figure for the road and the privilege of completing it at the expense of the taxpayers. This would be a delightful arrangement for the two persuasive knights, who, relieved of the burden which had begun to weigh heavily upon their shoulders, could devote their whole attention to those large and profitable interests in Mexico, South America, as well as in Canada, which the largesse of a benevolent public has enabled them to acquire.

We observe that Sir Richard "accorded a frank and unmistakable incredulity" to the story, but we also note that he describes some advantages in the scheme. We would get the railway, anyway, no matter who built it, and the federal government if it acquired the system would relieve the province of the gigantic guarantee to which Sir Richard has pledged it on behalf of the Canadian Northern. But seventy-five per cent. of the people of Canada live in provinces which have not guaranteed bonds to any extent for railway enterprise. Will they look kindly on a proposition which will involve the acceptance by the public, of which they are the largest part, of the huge liabilities heaped up by British Columbia and the prairie provinces on account of the Canadian Northern Railway? On the other hand, would the provinces be willing to surrender all control over the road in which they are so directly interested? Some, no doubt, would do so with alacrity if it involved the disappearance of their obligations, but the others, not so heavily tied up, would not.

It would be interesting to know where the proposal originated. The despatch says the suggestion comes from British financial interests and some of the provincial governments. As Sir Richard accords "a frank and unmistakable incredulity" we will assume that British Columbia is innocent. A similar assumption may be entertained with regard to the prairie provinces. That the scheme is in the wind is certain, and it is equally certain that it is being promoted by parties who expect to profit by saddling the system on the Canadian people. Perhaps the denial of Sir William Mackenzie and Sir Donald Mann will not be so vigorous about the time of the inter-provincial convention next fall.

When parliament voted sixteen million dollars to the Canadian Northern as a free gift last session it should have insisted upon an explanation from the government of the financial operations of the promoters of this system. The two or three men who control it have acquired street railways, coal mines, power and light plants, fisheries, iron properties, etc., which they hold as private enterprises and entirely distinct from the Canadian Northern Railway system. To what extent has the assistance of the people of this country on account of the railway entered into the organization of these immense side lines? What are the financial relations of Mackenzie & Mann, Limited, with the Canadian Northern Railway Company? To what extent are they personally involved in the railroad system? The public are entitled to this information, and most assuredly they will demand and obtain it before they sanction the scheme which is just peeping out of a dark corner into the light of day.

CHINESE IMMIGRATION.

The prominence given by a contemporary to the consideration of the subject of Chinese immigration indicates that, like us, it believes the situation has reached a stage which demands an effective remedy. We regret, however, that it has none to offer because, being a political supporter of the government at Ottawa, its counsel would carry some weight. And yet two or three years ago it was a prolific source of remedies on the question of Asiatic immigration and it assured us that if its own party were returned to power the matter would be settled for all time. We would then have a white British Columbia and there would be full dinner pails for white working men.

Every effective step that has been taken by Canada to restrict Asiatic immigration was the work of the Laurier administration. Japanese immigration was reduced to insignificance and that from India was prohibited altogether. The imposition of the $500 head-tax on Chinese was satisfactory for a long time, but in late years the employment agencies operating in this country have neutralized its effect and the influx from China has now reached large proportions. Our contemporary makes the suggestion that the Chinese government should prohibit the export of her people to this country under servile conditions. One can imagine the cynical smile of President Yuan Shi Kai if this proposition were seriously brought to his attention. The very first thing he would say would be, "Well, remove your head-tax. It is that which makes Chinese immigration to Canada under servile conditions possible. The employers who impose the servile conditions live in Canada, not in China. Let Canada deal with them." And that is the only answer a man of common sense could make.

But there is a remedy, and we suggest that our contemporary back us up in advocating it. It is that an understanding be entered into between the Canadian and Chinese governments along the lines of the Lemieux agreement with Japan. This would reduce Chinese immigration to Canada to an insignificant total. It would be much more effective than the head-tax, which has seen its best days. It is true Mr. Borden has only just begun to appreciate the merits of the Lemieux agreement, and those stalwart quondam exclusionists who won their seats in 1908 by advocating total exclusion and damning the agreement now regard it as a thing of beauty and joy forever. But the main point is that its results have vindicated the late government's policy with regard to Japanese immigration and it would be equally satisfactory in connection with immigration from China.

Our contemporary is mistaken in its statement that Sir Richard McBride is asked to stay the tide of Chinese immigration to this province. Everybody is aware that the provincial government has nothing to do with the immigration laws of Canada. But Sir Richard McBride assured us that this question would be settled satisfactorily by Mr. Borden. We were to have a white British Columbia, total exclusion, etc. We hear none of that stuff nowadays; but has Sir Richard no influence with Mr. Borden? He might at least utter a chirp or two to let us know that he still favors a white British Columbia.

To relieve the skirt of its embarrassing hobble, fashion has decreed that the garment may be slit to a greater or lesser extent, according to the will of the wearer. Of course there is a tremendous uproar brewing about this exceedingly important matter. Some say it will prove more embarrassing to certain men than the hobble was to a number of women. But we do not credit a news item which says Toronto's Committee of Forty is going to "sit upon it."

Quite the richest proposal yet is that the Chinese government solve Canada's immigration problem by prohibiting the export of her people to Canada "under servile conditions." Why, Sir Richard would be mad enough to declare war on the Chinese government for depriving his treasury of the handsome revenues it receives annually as the province's share of the head-tax.

Holland, with a population of five millions, is going to build a fleet of nine dreadnoughts. A coterie of Little Canadians, headed by Hon. R. L. Borden, says Canada is incapable of manning or maintaining a fleet of any kind. In a year or two the population of Canada will be twice that of Holland. A most flattering estimate of the calibre of our people.

Sir William Mackenzie is trying to sell his Toronto street railway to the municipality for between twenty-eight and thirty million dollars. Doubtless the knightly financier, if he succeeds in this laudable enterprise, will invest the entire proceeds of the sale in the Canadian Northern. What?

It's not the heat, it's the humidity, that is killing a considerable number of people in the torrid east. This relieves the sun of responsibility, but the result in the end is the same to the sufferers.

There is generally some ease in the British courts to keep alive the interest in the grand old nobility.

Montreal Witness.

With the emergency gone, and with the assurance that our dreadnoughts are not to be followed up with maintenance, to say nothing of men, is there any longer an excuse for a measure which, as Truth says, would plant the maintenance of the seven million pounds' worth of Canadian battleships on Great Britain's estimates? Would it not be far better to decide upon a permanent and not an emergency policy—and let the electorate have a say as to what that permanent policy shall be.

PASTOR STURGEON TO PREACH HERE Noted Evangelist Will Speak on "Victory Over the Grave" in Alexandra Club.

On Saturday evening, July 5, at 8 p. m., Pastor Menta Sturgeon will preach in the Alexandra Club. His subject will be "Victory Over the Grave." The meeting will be held under the auspices of the International Bible Students' Association and will be open to the public, free of charge. Pastor Sturgeon is considered one of the most noted preachers in the United States. He preaches on the Bible as the inspired Word of God.

In brief, the life of Pastor Sturgeon has been one of self-making, with numerous interesting vicissitudes. Born in the days of re-construction at the close of the Civil War, near Sturgeon, Mo., the lad was left an orphan at the tender age of four, growing to early manhood under the tutelage of grand parents. At fifteen, he attended high school at St. Louis, working mornings, beginning at four, and evenings and holidays for support. At eighteen, he became secretary to the president of a large coal company, and at twenty-five, served as public stenographer and notary public. Two years later, he was able to start work on his heart's desire of becoming a minister of the gospel of Christ. Entering one of the largest theological seminaries of the South, he studiously pursued the full seven-year course, graduating with honors in 1895 and bearing the meritorious Th. M. Degree, which was well-earned. Continuously, since, his activity in the world of evangelism has probably exceeded that of any class-mate, extending to all parts of America and Europe, amongst rich and poor, Gentile and Jew, and warming the hearts of thousands everywhere. All are welcome, no collection is taken.

A LINE O' CHEER EACH DAY O' TH' YEAR

By John Kendrick Bangs

A DECLARATION.

To-day they say Independence Day, And I for one am going to celebrate With declarations of my free estate From tyrannies I hate; I'm going to throw off evil passion's yoke, And join the ranks of those untrammeled folk Who've freed themselves from fear and useless care, From slavish selfishness; and loosed the snare Of captiousness, suspicion, cynic sneers; Of pessimistic jibes and scornful jeers. A Freeman henceforth I, Beneath a smiling sky, That sings of love, and hope, and confidence In all men's good intent and God's beneficence.

TO FOUND CHURCH

Chinese Missionaries Have Unusual Application in Gazette.—Skagway Company Incorporated.

In a growing country many unusual companies are incorporated. Among those noted this week in the provincial gazette is one, the Christ Church of China. Lee Wong Ping, missionary, and Wong Mow, deacon, indicate their intention of uniting themselves into a society or corporation, the purpose of which is to conduct a Christian church at Vancouver and elsewhere in the province.

The Skagway Steamship Company, which is operating out of Vancouver in a freight business in northern ports, is registered as an extra-provincial company. The head office is in Seattle.

New companies granted certificates of incorporation are the Arrow Lakes Cannery Company, Maysmith & Co., Northern Bond Co., Prince Rupert Agencies, North Shore Coal Co., Okanagan Mission Supply Co., Ruth Warren & Carroll, White Rock Waterworks Co., Security Fireproof Storage and Moving Company, and the United Undertakers. The United Undertakers propose to take over the business of Nicholas Pasto, of Vancouver, as a going concern. Licenses are granted to the Canadian Surety Company and the Publishers' Association of Canada as extra-provincial companies.

The following appointments are gazetted: J. G. Simms, to be a clerk in the Government Agents' office at Vernon, and Alice E. Smith to be stenographer there. A. P. Halley is appointed Cariboo and Quesnel mining division. Samuel Richards is to be secretary of the board of examiners at Hosmer coal mine. Leicester A. Bonner, of Parkerville, resigns as a justice of the peace, and Maurice D. Baker, M. D., of Fernie, and B. de F. Boyce, M. D., of Kelowna, resign as coroners.

REGIMENTAL ORDERS.

The following regimental orders have been issued by Lieut.-Col. J. A. Hall, commanding the 88th Regiment, Victoria Fusiliers:

July 4, 1913. Books—O. C. companies will render to the orderly room by 9 a. m. on Wednesday next a list of military books on company charge with a certificate that they are complete. The adjutant will inspect the company or order books on Thursday evening next at 8 p. m. Arms and Equipment—O. C. companies will render to the orderly room by 8 p. m. on Thursday next a list of arms and equipment lost during manoeuvres.

Musketry.—During the months of July and August the battalion will fire its annual musketry course. A preliminary course of instruction will take place in the drill hall as follows: A, B, C and D companies on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 p. m.; E, F, G and H companies on Wednesdays and Fridays at 8 p. m. Subaltern officers and color sergeants to attend recruits. The O. C. earnestly hopes that all ranks will endeavor to attend the parade on the above days. Captain C. F. de Salis is appointed musketry instructor.

Recruiting.—Recruiting for the regiment is now open. The commanding officer will be present at the drill hall on Thursdays to attend recruits. (Sgd.) P. F. Villiers, Captain, Acting Adjutant.

Party of British M. P.'s Expected to Reach the City While Celebration is On.

Of the party of British members of parliament who will visit Canada shortly, arriving in Victoria in time to catch the Makura when she sails on August 4, for Australia, some are well known here, particularly Hamar Greenwood, who visited in Victoria eighteen months ago. He shares with Donald Buckmaster the distinction of being the Canadian born member of the delegation. Mr. Greenwood has risen rapidly as a lawyer at the British bar, and is regarded as in line for the front bench, in fact his appointment to a junior office has been expected for some time, owing to his strong position in the House. On the Conservative side of the House Mr. Buckmaster is also a rising man, but is much newer to political life.

Of the three privy councillors Lord Emmott, under secretary of state for the colonies, is better known as the member for Oldham in the Commons for several years before his recent transfer to the Lords. C. B. Stuart Wortley, K. C., has been for over thirty years a representative of Sheffield, and Thomas Lough is a well known educationalist, and was for some years parliamentary secretary to the board of education. He is a tea merchant in London.

The other peer, in addition to Lord Emmott, is Lord Sheffield, a member of one of the branches of the Stanleys who have been consistently Liberal. Sir E. H. Carille is a member for St. Alban's Division, while the other two knights in the party are Sir Arthur Priestley, for some years representative of Grantham, and Sir Stephen Collins, head of a firm of stone merchants and contractors at Vauxhall, formerly a prominent member of the London county council. He has been for some years member for Kensington. The balance of the party is composed of Will Crooks, the well known Labor member; Arthur Sherwell, the sociologist, who has been in the House for some half dozen years; Capt. Price and T. W. Black. The itinerary should just bring them across to the Coast at the time of the carnival, and it is hoped when further information of their movements is known that the welcome will be in accordance with the importance of the visit.

C. N. R. LETS CONTRACT.

Line From Songhees Reserve Will Soon Be Under Construction.

Within a few days the Canadian Northern railway will be letting the contract for the construction of its line from the Songhees Terminal to Mile 47, where the work at present going on begins. David Lewis, the resident engineer of the company, said that the line to Shawanigan Lake, would be completed within two months while he expects to see work finished to the head of Cowichan Lake in October.

Sad News for Brother.—A message from Seattle received by the city detective department last night, asked that James McCormack, of that city, who had left for Victoria, on Dominion Day, be notified of the sudden death of his brother. Search for Mr. McCormack revealed the fact that he had registered at the King Edward hotel, but that he had left the next day.

WHO'S WHO IN SPORTS

Eddie Campi, the clever and rugged little California boxer whose admirers believe he is destined to become heavyweight champion of the world, will pass his twentieth milestone to-day.

never know when they are licked, however, and he managed to get the decision by a shade. The decision was far from popular, and Williams and Campi will have to scrap again before the Baltimore boy can claim to be Eddie's master.

he defeated Jimmy Walsh in Sacramento, and then went running for the topknot, Goujon, Williams and Burns.

TO-DAY IN PUGILISTIC ANNALS 1908—Battling Nelson and Joe Gans fought their second battle, at Colma, and the Durable Dane, who had lost the first bout to the "old master" on a foul in the 42nd round, was this time the victor, winning by a knockout in the 17th inning. For the first ten rounds the negro kept the batter at a distance, and showed himself vastly the superior, but he lacked the stamina to keep up the pace. A few months later they fought again, and Gans stayed 21 rounds before he was knocked out.

SCHMUTZ AGAIN. Seattle, July 4.—Vancouver lunched hits in the fourth inning and won from Seattle, 4 to 1 yesterday. Schmuts pitched good ball for Vancouver throughout and had perfect support.

BAYLEY MAY BOX IN VICTORIA SOON

V. A. C. May Land Feature Bout for Next Smoker; Fine Card Arranged

There is every prospect that Victoria boxing fans will be able to get a peek at Joe Bayley in action before many days have passed. Morris Condon, J.P. Bayley's manager, is now considering an offer from the club officials to have Bayley box before the V. A. C. members at their next smoker, and has promised to give the club an answer after to-day's bout with Rothus. The opponent for Bayley has not yet been selected, but a handsome offer has been made to have Bayley step four rounds in the Capital, and either Eddie Bartheau or Clarence Rothus will be brought here to oppose the former title holder.

Four other good bouts will be carded for the next V. A. C. entertainment, and with Bayley as a head-liner, the finest boxing card ever pulled off in the Capital is looked for. Efforts will be made to bring Freddie Welsh here before the end of the month, while Frenchie Valois will also be offered a bout in the Capital before the V. A. C. members.

Canadian lightweight champion Frenchie Valois will meet ex-champion Joe Bayley, of Victoria, in a return bout for the title at Chet McIntyre's Broughouse Arena on the night of July 26.

Soules, in Cadillac No. 1, was second, entering the park at 11:27.16, making the running time from Los Angeles in 11 hours 25 minutes 18 seconds. Barney Oldfield, in Fiat No. 7, was the third to arrive, covering the Los Angeles to Sacramento course in 11 hours 22 minutes 53 seconds, giving him second place up to this time. Toffa, in Simplex No. 5, was the fourth car to reach the finish. He arrived at 11:48:32.

Car No. 11, Macombe, swerved off the road while taking a curve near Burbank and went into the ditch. Driver P. E. Leach and his mechanic escaped unharmed. No. 15, Touraine, also went through a fence at Burbank, but driver Munroe and his mechanic were unhurt.

WILDING HOLDS HIS ENGLISH CHAMPIONSHIP

Wimbledon, Eng., July 4.—A. F. Wilding, of New Zealand, holder of the title of all-England singles lawn tennis championship since 1910, retained the championship to-day by defeating Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, national lawn tennis champion of the United States by three straight sets—5, 6, 3, 10-3.

Wilding played the greatest game of his life. The match from start to finish was of the heroic order, but while the American made many brilliant recoveries, he proved hardly a match for his older and more experienced opponent. He suffered somewhat from ill-luck and his service was not up to his best, being as a rule much weaker than in the previous matches he had played since his arrival in England.

His first service many times resulted in a fault. Wilding, on the other hand, was at the top of his form.

When the two opponents faced each other at the start of the match the physical disparity between them was at once evident. Wilding is a grown, broad-shouldered man beside whom McLoughlin looked like a boy. The New Zealander was at first much worried by the American's service, but as the match progressed he became more accustomed to it and standing at the back line returned it with precision.

The doubles championship was won by H. Roper Barrett and C. P. Dixon, of Great Britain, the title-holders, who beat Friedrich Wilhelm Rahe and Heinrich Klnaschroth, of Germany, the challengers, by three sets to one—6-2, 6-4, 4-6, 6-2.

The ladies' doubles championship was won by Mrs. McNair and Miss D. P. Boothby, who beat Mrs. Storry and Mrs. Lambert Chambers. The latter pair retired after the second set because Mrs. Storry strained a leg muscle.

There is every prospect that Victoria boxing fans will be able to get a peek at Joe Bayley in action before many days have passed. Morris Condon, J.P. Bayley's manager, is now considering an offer from the club officials to have Bayley box before the V. A. C. members at their next smoker, and has promised to give the club an answer after to-day's bout with Rothus. REMARKED ON THE SIDE

Terminals Have a Tough Row to Hoe.

Los Angeles, July 4.—The survivor of the Rivers-Ritchie fight in San Francisco to-morrow probably will be called upon to defend his title as lightweight champion here on Labor Day.

It was announced to-day by the management of the Pacific Athletic Club that "extraordinary inducements" would be offered the champion to box the winner of the Los Angeles Fourth of July bout between Ed Anderson, of Medford, Oregon, lightweight, and Leach Cross, of New York.

Bees Again Win, Aided by Good Twirling.

Mike Lynch sent his youthful collegian, Boatman, to the mound yesterday, and the former University of Washington star responded with a win. Of course he wobbled along about the sixth inning, but at that he broke in very nicely and held the Tigers to a single tally while he was on the mound, which shows that with a little schooling he will do very nicely. Plummer finished the conflict and held the Bengals safe while the Bees continued to hammer Mr. Bolce. The win boosts the locals quite a bit and incidentally widens the gap between the Victoria and Tacoma clubs. Vancouver's win gives Bob Brown's club a chance to close up with the Tillamooks this week, and it does appear as if the champions have about their best. Portland again beat Spokane and are rapidly drawing near the top. It was a bad day for the tail-end clubs, and with the league-leaders fighting amongst themselves, Lynch and Williams should improve the respective standing of their clubs before the week is out.

MILK-BOTTLE CAP
Easy to Remove and Can Be Used Over and Over Again.
Have you ever pried a cap out of a milk bottle without wondering why someone did not invent a better kind? Well, a Pennsylvania man has done so. This new cap consists of a top and bottom layer of cardboard with a layer of muslin or wire gauze between. This makes a rigid disk that can be washed and used over and over again by the milkman. It is also absolutely airtight and dustproof. But the feature that appeals most to the general public is the ease with which it may be removed. In the center of the top layer of cardboard is a little hinged flap that can be lifted up with the finger nail and that affords a center pull on the cap. By means of this the disk can be taken out without bending it and without wetting the fingers. Such a permanent cap affords great possibilities for advertising, with a key phrase beneath the flap.

THE EVENING CHIT-CHAT
By RUTH CAMERON

On a hot day in a very hot kitchen some years ago, a hard-working mother had just finished ironing four shirt waists and three fussy white dresses and hung them on the clothesline, when the front door bell rang. It took her almost ten minutes to get rid of the peddler, and when she finally came back to her kitchen, there on the floor was her three-year-old son calmly folding up the last of those garments.
The work of hours had been destroyed in ten minutes. For a moment that tired woman felt just one impulse, that of anger against a naughty child, and then, being a rather remarkable mother, she began to think. "The baby isn't old enough to do that from mischief," she thought. "It's just that he has seen me fold things, and he wanted to do the same. He didn't mean to be naughty; he just wanted to fold something. I suppose if I gave him something to fold he'd enjoy folding it, and it would keep him out of mischief."
Whereupon, instead of punishing the child, she got out two or three old dish towels and an old spread and gave them to him, and he sat on the floor amusing himself for an hour, folding and unfolding, just as he had seen his mother do.
Moreover, she did not forget her lesson. When the next baby reached the folding age she brought out the old spread and dish towels, and added a few more articles, and when he had passed the folding age, she laid them aside for the next corner.
And to each baby was harmlessly amused for many hours, and at the same time learned something about the use and control of his hands and arms.
Now the above incident is not original with me. I cribbed it out of a book about the Montessori method and related it, from memory. Doesn't that arouse your interest in the Montessori method? I mean that it should.
The Montessori method of child education sounds very technical and abstract. As a matter of fact it is simply a thorough development, and enlargement by Maria Montessori, an Italian doctor, of the same idea which came to that New England housewife, namely, that most of the apparently mischievous things a child does are not naughty at all, but merely natural attempts to get into touch with the world about him and do what he sees others do; and that if we will supply him with harmless implements for doing these things, he will not make trouble and he will educate himself.
Perhaps this is not the millennium in child education, but it certainly is a splendidly sane viewpoint and my heartfelt advice to all fathers and mothers who want to give their children the squarest deal going, is to get some one of the interesting books which have been written on this subject, and read it from cover to cover.

LIBERAL REFORM CLUB IS FORMED

New Organization Looked to Take Leading Place in Work of Party in Victoria

There was launched last evening at an enthusiastic meeting of Liberals what is looked forward to as a great influence in the future of the party, when the Liberal-Reform club was organized and the preliminary steps taken to get it going.

That there is need for such an organization and that it can be of much service to the party and to the fight for good government was the opinion of all who spoke, and the value of the work done in other cities by similar clubs was told by men who had been prominent in them. Nearly everyone present had been a member of a Liberal club before coming to this province, either in the eastern provinces or on the prairies, and several of them mentioned their surprise that there had not been one established here before now.

It was felt that while the central organization cannot be improved upon there is room for a club where the members could meet in a social way for a smoke and a talk, or to read the papers, and where they could hear addresses from time to time on the questions of the day by leaders of the party. Elsewhere the clubs have taken a very prominent part in election campaigns, and time and again have been able to alter the political complexion of the constituency by their influence and steady work among the voters in favor of the Liberal candidates.

Membership in the Liberal-Reform club will be open to all Liberals and other citizens who desire a reform in the existing conditions in province or Dominion, and will not be confined to residents or voters in the city. Any man whose sympathies are with the party which stands for progress and reform is welcome to affiliate himself with the club.

Having decided that the club should be organized, and what its name should be, the meeting appointed strong committees to draft a constitution and to go into the question of quarters and other matters incident to this stage of organization of such a body. These will report at another meeting to be held on Friday evening, July 18.

"Camille," which is being played this week at the Prince's Theatre is receiving artistic treatment by the members of the company. Miss Page as Camille, Mr. Mitchell as Armand are especially successful in their interpretation of most difficult roles.

Military Writer Comments on the Stupendous Proportions of War-Like Preparations

Writing in the Montreal Witness, Captain J. Reid, R. E., thus deals with the colossal proportions of European military expenditures:

There is irrefragable proof to-day that the three crowned cousins—King George, Kaiser Wilhelm, and Czar Nicholas—have set their faces against war, considering it a crime against humanity.

That is a great and blessed factor in the guarantee of European peace, and had it come into being before the annual war preparation expenditures had reached such colossal proportions it would have been to the benefit of the world.

I have almost made the saying a platitude now, but peace which in the garb of a wasteful financial expenditure overburdens a laboring proletariat is no longer a sweet vision to be regarded with hope, but rather with anxiety, if not dismay.

Peace in an armed guise—and let me confess at once the Crowning Cousins have said not a word against this annual expenditure—imposes a burden almost as grievous as war. Maybe to the point of tediousness, I append the total annual naval and military expenditure of three great powers, because our leading financiers cannot afford to have these terrible array of figures out of their memory:

Table with columns: Country, 1912-13, 1913-14-15. Rows: Great Britain, Germany, France. Includes sub-totals for 1912-13 and 1913-14-15.

These figures have been built up step by step, and the present strain, though very tense, was not suddenly applied. By adding five million dollars every year, and then eight million, France has increased her naval expenditure from sixty-one million dollars in 1902 to ninety-one million dollars in 1913.

HENNESSY BRANDY is a Life-Saver in summer

IN practically every home, there may be moments in which Hennessy Brandy would save lives. It may be a case of threatened sun-stroke, or indigestion with colic, or a fainting spell, or exhaustion from fright, or rescue from drowning, or a weak heart action.

Every one of these emergencies is reached by a little Hennessy Brandy.

Every home should have a bottle of Hennessy Brandy for just such emergencies.

Remember, it is not enough to order "a bottle of brandy" of the annual expenditure which has been demanded, and are being sanctioned since then.

SPECIFY HENNESSY in original bottles with gold and white labels.

By her new naval bill, Germany, when 1920 has come, will have at least doubled (gradually during the intervening years) her present annual naval expenditure. It is now $113,000,000. It will be then fully $226,000,000.

But Europe during the past winter has had war raging in her territories, and war, like a forest fire, leaves terrible results in its wake. Just as the war in the Far East shook temporarily with its results the balance of power maintained by Russia, with France in Europe, so to-day the destruction of Turkish sway in the Balkans has released a triumphant tide of Slavism against the Teutonic bulwark within Austria and Germany.

Note the result—financially. Germany has asked by means of a super-tax for 1913 and 1914, in these two years, $200,000,000 ($200,000,000 sterling), wherewith to (a) increase her army, and (b) build new forts along her eastern or Russian frontier. France to be prepared, increases her conscript's service again to three years, and proposes a loan for $200,000,000 ($200,000,000 sterling) chiefly to still strengthen her eastern or German frontier.

I add now these sums proportionally to the annual total expenditure which I have already given, adding the minimum estimated annual increase of seven million dollars and ten million dollars for 1913-14 to the naval expenses of Germany and France respectively, likewise allowing for Great Britain's.

Thus will the totals of the alarming increases appear:

Table with columns: For 1913-13, For 1913-14-15. Rows: Britain, Germany, France. Includes sub-totals for 1912-13 and 1913-14-15.

The outlay to be expended during the next two financial years, i.e., until March, 1915, will be increased by $202,000,000 for each year. Provided always that the money can be squeezed from the German and French taxpayers, for it depends on that, because although $985,000,000 is awful, this mad increase is actually 25 per cent. upon it.

I have endeavored to be as correct as possible with these figures. I may be even under-estimating France's probable naval expenditure during the incoming two years. I wish my readers to bear in mind that the German $200,000,000 tax and the French $200,000,000 loan is for the armies and land forts, and is not for the navies.

Germany's navy is well provided for till 1920, and my reason for doubting France's quiescence under such an arrangement is the commencement of an agitation in Paris for a bigger fleet, i.e., for a reinforcement similar to that covered by Germany's new navy bill of this year. This reinforcement will cost before 1920 comes $100,000,000, or a little over $12,000,000 annually.

Let the financial nightmare there-

DISCOVERS BARRIER

Naturalized American Hindu Says He Is Refused Admission.

The framers of the Declaration of Independence, with its statement that "all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights," apparently did not consider the Hindu, or else later generations have views differing from those of the founders of the American commonwealth, as Kapoor Singh has discovered.

He is a native of British India who came from Hongkong to this country some years ago, and crossed like many of his countrymen to the United States, attracted by the magnet of high wages. There he exchanged his citizenship and became a naturalized American subject.

A number of his race and creed having forsaken the fertile Philippines for the United States, booked passage on the monster Minnesota, and have crossed the Pacific to Seattle upon her.

They now find themselves at the immigration quarters awaiting the operation of the law as it applies to their case. Kapoor, who has been in Victoria only a few weeks, desired to meet them, but he states that the consulate declines to pass him, and that therefore he cannot legally leave Victoria to see his fellow Hindus in Seattle, although he is an American subject.

THE HUMAN PROCESSION

George M. Cohan, who discovered and made a fortune out of the dramatic possibilities of the Stars and Stripes, will celebrate his thirty-fifth birthday to-day. George recently bade farewell to that dear old Broadway which he has celebrated in song and melodrama, and declares that after a year on the road it will be back to Providence for his'n. The man who made a million or more by waving a flag at psychological moments was born in Providence on the Fourth of July, 1878, and it is on a farm near the Rhode Island city that he expects to spend his declining years, in the buzz of his family, surrounded by cattle, turkeys, chickens, cabbages, strawberry trees and other flora and fauna.

His father and mother and the other and numerous Cohans are also going to leave the great white streak and settle down on a farm.

It was about 23 years ago that George started his stage career as a boy violinist, and since then he has done nearly everything in the amusement line from circus performer to singer, actor, composer, dramatist, producer, manager and theatre owner. He is reported to be worth several millions, a wild and regardless spender, the report is probably true. Mr. Cohan believes that "Little Johnny Jones" is his dramatic masterpiece, but—well, there will be a lot of long winter nights down on the farm, and George expects to spend them in writing "the great American comedy."

Little Prince Wilhelm, eldest son of Crown Prince Wilhelm of Germany, will have a birthday party to-day, this being the seventh anniversary of his arrival in this world. If he outlives his celebrated grandfather and his warlike father, the youngster will become Emperor of Germany and King of Prussia—provided, of course, the pesky Socialists don't succeed in toppling over the throne and thus deprive the Hohenzollern family of their imperial powers. As for such a contingency, however, little Wilhelm would probably say, "I should worry." He is described as a healthy, husky, happy boy, and to such the present is far more important than the future. His mother was the Princess Cecilie of Mecklenburg-Schwerin, a younger sister of the present Queen of Denmark, and related to the royal families of England, Norway and Greece.

Although he was born in Tennessee, educated at Cornell, and is now vice-president of Leland Stanford University in California, Dr. John Casper Branner is more at home in Brazil than anywhere else. The famous geologist recently sailed for the "coffee republic" to continue the scientific investigations he commenced in 1912, when he went to Brazil with the imperial geological commission. After concluding his duties with that body, Dr. Branner remained in the South American country many years as expert for a mining company and as agent for the United States department of agriculture, which he served as a botanist. After returning to his native country, he became geologist for the Pennsylvania geological survey, state geologist of Arkansas, and professor of geology at Indiana University. He joined the Leland Stanford faculty in 1892, was acting president for a time, and since 1899 has been vice-president of the famous California institution. Since his connection with Stanford he has headed several scientific expeditions to Brazil.

The 1912 mountain race, won by Harvey E. Haggard, will be at least duplicated in its number of entries, and the event will be one of the most exciting in the whole programme of events. The course will be thirty miles in distance, and an altitude of 11,000 feet will be reached in the highest place. The prizes will total $1,000, exclusive of cups, medals and trophies. PLEASURE AND PAIN OF LITERARY LIFE

Sir Rider Haggard Gives Useful Suggestions From Experience

POINTS OUT CAUSES OF CONSTANT FAILURE

Great Masters of Past Had Better Chance of Permanent Success

In the course of an address to the New South Wales Institute of Journalists, Sir Rider Haggard, a member of the Dominion Trades Commission, who will be in Victoria with the members in July next, said many interesting things of the future of literature and its ethics.

The Literary Life.

"The life of the person who writes fiction," he said in part, "is not altogether agreeable. I would not recommend any young man to take it up. It is full of hazards. Not one in a thousand succeeds; and not one in a thousand of those who succeed can hope to live—live in a literary sense. But if you happen to have taken it up, and if you have met with a measure of success, it is satisfactory to know that whatever the obstacles you encounter, whatever the criticism, envy, and abuse you get, still you have succeeded in the main object of giving pleasure to many thousands, and possibly millions of human beings. (Applause.) You have succeeded in relieving a bed of sickness and infusing a little rosy glow into the sorrowful conditions of such as are hidden from the world; in fact, you have done a little good and no harm. (Applause.)

Spurious Literature.

"As for the chairman's tribute that he (Sir Rider) had written nothing base, he assured his hearers that he had tried not to. It was so easy to write something base. He had noticed in Australia and in England, in going round the bookshops, that some of the books were not desirable. He was sorry to say it, but mostly these books were written by women, and there was a large sale for them. If the ladies who turned them out quite understood what they were doing they would 'turn off the tap.' As men of the world they knew that there were enough things to fight in life without putting more obstacles in the way. They all had a pretty stiff fight in the world, and it should be the business of men and women to make the fight easier. As one having some experience in fiction he said that nothing was easier than to write books of the sort he had referred to. He could do it with the greatest ease if he felt so inclined, but he would not do it for a million pounds. (Applause.)

The Land Question.

"After Majuba I said that South Africa was no place for an Englishman, and I left the country. But the 'pull' of Africa got hold of me, and I began to write. It was a dangerous thing to write. (Laughter.) I have never quite got rid of the temptation, so I have gone on writing. But at the same time I desired to do something more. I looked round the world. I now belonged to that continent of old, the country squire. (Laughter.) I thought there was a great deal to be taught the world about land. (Hear, hear.) Twenty years ago, I devoted myself to the cause of preaching to the people of the world that their only life was in the land. (Applause.) If they desert the land for the city, so surely do they write on the wall the prophecy of their doom. (Applause.) I saw that I am a landowner. I tried to do the best I could in that direction. I have preached that doctrine ad nauseam. I spent two of the hardest years of my life in travelling through rural England compelling those tremendous folks 'Rural England,' and I venture to hope that in a hundred years or more they must be consulted regarding English agriculture of our time. (Applause.)

Problems of Empire.

"You are aware that the eternal problems of civilization are as pressing here as anywhere else. Questions of poverty, drink, population are pressing on every side. I know why General Coth asked me to investigate the social system of England, and involve myself in visits to the slums of the great cities of England to look into the matter. I know what are the questions you have the poor—though I don't know where they are. (Laughter.) I believe there are some who drink, even in Australia. To these problems of our age we should apply our imagination. I believe I have an imagination side—or it is generally so supposed. (Laughter.) But I have a practical side. I want to argue that imagination should be applied to practical matters a great deal more than it is to-day. (Applause.) Imagination is a quality largely condemned by British people.

done, and if we face the difficulties before us—I do not speak of Australia, Canada, or England, but the whole Empire—I think there is yet time that the Empire may acquire a place unprecedented in the tale of the world; it may sail to a safe and glorious dominion. I think also that if it fall to do this, if it fall to look each of these things in the eye, then it is quite possible it will become but a wreck on the shore of Time through which will wall the winds of history." White Races of Empire. We should have a little more imagination in the affairs of the Empire. We talk about the Empire. We are proud of the British Empire. (Applause.) Let us face the facts of the Empire. There is a population, without subject races, of sixty millions. Are 60,000,000 white people enough to hold a quarter of the globe? Should not that sixty millions be increased somehow? You have a country like Australia. Am I right when I say you have only four and a half million people? I ask you to call your imagination into play, and reflect by the aid of that light whether it is worth while to increase that population. (Hear, hear.) I would add, therefore, that I think what you need is not more hard-headed business men, but men who took a little forward—not politicians, but statesmen. Look to the future. Bring your imagination to the study of passing events. If this is

ENGLAND'S MENACE AN OLD, OLD STORY

FRANCE WAS BOGEY FIFTY YEARS AGO

Just as Germany is Said to Be Now and Some Other Power Will Be in Future

I have to thank a courteous friend in County Cork for a copy of a very interesting book, entitled "The Defenceless State of Great Britain," written by Sir Francis B. Head, Bart., and published in the year 1859...

Of course the enemy has varied with the progress of time, and not very long ago we were all asked to initiate the "Skibbereen Eagle" in keeping at least one eye on the Tar.

When Sir Francis Head wrote in 1859 France was the bogey, and he was as firmly convinced that a French army was about to come over and conquer us as the patriots of the present are sure that another nation means to, and can and will, capture these islands.

One country with nothing in its pocket is to be seen armed to the teeth; the other with a profusion of wealth which attracts the attention of the world is absolutely toothless.

So there were those in 1859, as there are some to-day, who declared that our rulers had left us naked to our enemies.

Only a year or two ago the Mayor of some town in the Southern Counties declared that he had seen 200 German barges ready to bring 1000 men each across the North Sea, and even so Sir Francis Head announced 63 years ago:

Anyone who chooses to cross the Channel may have an opportunity of inspecting the very men, the very muskets, bayonets, and sabres, the cannons, and the many cannon balls that would be brought against him. This evidence was considered as conclusive in 1859, as the tales about the barges were supposed to be a year or two ago—the only difference being that the enemy used to be France and to-day it is alleged to be Germany.

In order to increase the scare in 1859 Sir Francis told some tall tales about the preparations Napoleon made at the beginning of the nineteenth century to capture England.

The mode of embarkation was by repeated practice brought to such precision that it was found by experiment that a corps of 25,000 men drawn up opposite to the vessels allotted to them, could be completely embarked in the space of ten minutes.

Just at present we are told that aerial navigation has changed the conditions of war, and that in consequence of this new discovery, or form of enterprise, Great Britain is no longer an island.

England, bound in with the triumphant sea, whose rocky shore beats back the onrushing surge of watery Neptune. And then the eloquent baronet goes on to say:

This protection, however, and these defences, by a power unknown to Shakespeare—the magic power of steam—have been materially impaired; nay, it may truly be said, they have been almost annihilated.

women of 1859 regarded this prediction which made even the prophet himself "almost shudder." Nor is that so much moment for all that concerns us is the knowledge that the prophesied trouble never took place.

Then as how the success of the enemy was taken for granted. Then as now any man who suggested that we could put up a fight against the foe was looked upon as no patriot, and as little better than a traitor.

The bulk of the army would be encamped in the most open, convenient, and commanding points in the vicinity of the capital, such as (1) St. James's and Green Parks, (2) Hyde Park, (3) Regent's Park, (4) any convenient ground about Hackney and Bow, (5) Deptford Dockyard, (6) Chatham and Camberwell, (7) Brixton and Battersea.

When the eyes of all Europe were fixed on the friar of Wittenberg trumpeting his message to the emperor and estates of Germany, portraits of the protagonist in the great drama were produced in profusion and rapidly bought up by an applauding people.

It is a pity that Albrecht Durer never saw Luther, for had he done so we should now possess a portrait of the latter worthy of its subject.

Early in 1520 their common patron, the Elector Frederick of Saxony, sent Durer some of the reformer's pamphlets. The artist replied to the elector's chaplain, George Spalatin: "I beg your Reverence to express my warmest thanks to his Grace, and please commend to him the excellent

Rev. B. H. West Delivers Presidential Address at Baptist Convention

NATIONALITY TO BE HELPED BY CHURCHES

Baptists as Denomination Have Message for Humanity; Rev. Willard Litch Speaks

The seventeenth Baptist convention of British Columbia commenced its open session at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon with devotional exercises conducted by Rev. H. P. Thorpe. A large number of delegates, composed of both the pastors and the laity, were present from different parts of the province. Rev. B. H. West, president of the convention, presiding. Rev. H. G. Estabrook, superintendent of missions of British Columbia, introduced the new pastors who have come into the provincial body during the past year, among this number being Rev. A. S. Lewis, of New Westminster; E. H. Britten, of Penticton; Rev. Mr. West, of Vancouver; and Rev. Dr. Campbell, of the Tabernacle church, Victoria. The convention then welcomed its guests to seats at the annual gathering. Rev. Dr. Mackay, editor of the Canadian Baptist (Toronto), and Mr. J. F. MacIntyre, general secretary of the Baptist Union of Western Canada. Both the distinguished visitors responded briefly and appropriately.

In the unavoidable absence of J. L. Beckwith, Rev. J. B. Warnlock, pastor of the First Baptist church, delivered the address of welcome to the visitors. Rev. David Long, of Vancouver, who responded, expressing the fear that the many beauties of Victoria might distract the delegates' attention from the convention, but that he hoped they would make a special effort to be present at all sessions.

Presidential Address.
Vice-President Charles Woodworth presided at the evening session, and President West delivered his address on "The Spiritual Message of the Church to World Movements," as follows:
Moderator, Dear Brothers and Sisters:
In the providence of God, we are privileged to meet again in our annual convention. We should be very thankful to our Heavenly Father for the many tokens of His care over us, since we last met at Olivet church in New Westminster.

We have also had some breaks and shadows, during the past year. Death has removed some of our members. Our dearly beloved brother and co-worker, the Rev. P. H. McEwen, has been taken from us by the last enemy. He will be very much missed from all the meetings in this convention. For about twenty years Brother McEwen took an active part in helping to lay the foundation for a New Testament church in this province. To his efforts, counsel and devotion is due in great part that larger success which we are now enjoying.

The business and industrial conditions of the country are in a disturbed state owing to a partial financial crisis. This state of material things is affecting somewhat seriously the work of our churches and missions. In our larger industrial centres there are numbers of unemployed people who are restless and who are moving from one community to another, in quest of labor. The social and economic disturbances in the province are sufficiently acute to attract the attention and excite the alarm of thoughtful minds. The reckless speculation in land values is no doubt answerable, at least in part, for the present financial depression. A few years ago a great many people just their heads through the monetary excitement of a remarkable period of prosperity. Some very good people forgot to remember the timely admonition of the Apostle Paul: "For the love of money is the root of all evil, which while some coveted after, they erred from the faith, and pierced themselves through with many sorrows."

In All Nations.
Nineteen centuries ago the Christ of God sent out His disciples into a sinful world. Since that time many noble attempts have been made to solve the social problems of earth. But, as we meet in our annual convention in the year of grace 1915, the dark shadows of the real problems of human history are being averted the horizon of every civilization on the globe. The liquor traffic is strongly entrenched behind the legislation of the leading nations of the world. The white slave traffic, that most vicious social member of the age, sits enthroned upon the threshold of twentieth century civilization. Militarism is so rampant in the world that all nations are increasing their armies and navies, and the spirit of war is finding universal expression in the legislative halls, the senate chamber and the boy scout movement in various countries. The bitter fight between capital and labor continues unabated. As a local proof of this fact take notice of the coal miners' strike on Vancouver Island. The chasm that separates the rich from the poor is ever widening. Beneath the sickening poverty and social wrongs of our great cities there are smouldering fires which may at any moment burst forth with consuming flames. Infidelity, social unrest, religious confusion, as instanced by the 153 or more Protestant sects, and the decline of Evangelical Christianity in many quarters, are a few of the outstanding features of current history that confront us as a Christian body. To ignore such patent facts would be to condemn ourselves to a criminal superficiality. To laugh at such serious issues would be to desert to the foot of a delusive optimism, beneath every thoughtful faculty of the human mind.

As a Christian body we must appeal to the Bible as the inspired word of God. The historic position of the Baptists had always been to regard the Bible as the authority and rule of Christian faith and practice. By virtue of our historic position we are logically bound to consult Moses and the Prophets, and Christ and the Apostles, to learn the true significance of the perplexing issues of present-day society. We must interrogate the Word of God to learn the character of our world, the cause of its increasing problems, the one sovereign remedy for sin, and the plan of God, that embraces all dispensations.

Must Do the Work.
What can be done to promote a more serious study of the word of God? Shall we be able to go back to our respective fields of labor, with a more scriptural comprehension of the age in which we live, with its great opportunities, numerous ills and overshadowing problems? Are we here for a good time and a pleasurable holiday? I think not. We are here to do business for Jesus Christ. We are not our own, for we have been purchased by the atoning blood of the lamb of God.

In some respects we are making rapid progress in this province. The reports from the various fields show a marked success in general Christian work. There have also been more baptisms than in former years. In this fact we will greatly rejoice and render unto God due thankfulness for the many spiritual blessings which He has vouchsafed to us during the past year. And yet, when we take into consideration the whole equipment of our churches and missions and the vast number of unconverted people among whom we are laboring, our success is too flattering from an evangelic point of view. Dr. G. O. Gatas, in preaching an anniversary sermon in the first Baptist church of Moncton, N. B., on the 8th of June, adverted to the fact that in one spring before 1883 there were 118 conversions and baptisms. In my own church we don't have the number of conversions and baptisms that we should like to see. Is there not a grave danger in the carrying on the general work of our churches of losing sight of the fundamental purpose of the great commission? Christ commanded His disciples to go into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature. Philip, the apostle, preached Jesus to the Ethiopian eunuch, from the 53rd chapter of Isaiah. He didn't preach to him philosophy, nor poetry, nor culture, nor moral reform, nor evolution, but Jesus in His substitutionary sacrifice. God's only remedy for fallen humanity. It would be well for us as a religious body to confess our weaknesses and failures and to seek a deeper knowledge of the word, that the Holy Spirit may honor our work in the future with a larger number of conversions and baptisms.

Supernaturalism is a fatal characteristic in the Soldier of the Cross. I am free to admit a lack of spiritual power in my own ministry. A true watchman on Zion's walls must always sound the trumpets of warning when an enemy seeks the destruction of God's Israel. Indifference to a search of Pentecostal evangelism would prove suicidal at this important juncture of our history. God forbid that we should ever become so self-centered, so inflated with modern egotism, so engulfed with the perils of materialism, so charmed with the multitudinous voices of those times, that we cannot hear the clarion call of the cross of Christ for a closer walk with God, a holier passion for souls, and a deeper spiritual life in all of our churches and missions.

More Definite Assertion.
Some of us are hearing the call of God for a more definite assertion of the fundamental doctrines of the Bible. Among these are the creation and fall of Man, the Deity of Christ, His atonement and resurrection, a regenerated church membership, believer's baptism by immersion, warfare against a personal devil, and the second coming of Christ. All eminent soul-winners have made prominent these Biblical doctrines. The apostle Paul, John Bunyan and C. H. Spurgeon emphasized these doctrinal truths. The scriptures teach that the just shall live by faith and not by the exercise of human reason. "For by grace are ye saved, through faith and that not of yourselves. It is the gift of God. Not of works lest any man should boast."

I trust that a personal reference here will not be considered out of place. On the 9th of March, 1885, I reached this city. On the following Sunday I attended services at old Calvary church on Pandora street. The late Rev. Walter Barras was pastor of the church. I was most cordially welcomed as a stranger by the members of the church and congregation. Many of those earnest souls have gone to their reward beyond the grave. Hallowed memories of those days come to our hearts the struggles of those who worked so sacrificially for the Master in old Calvary church. May we not forget them in this day of larger things. It was in Victoria, in the June of 1885 that I made my first attempt to preach the gospel of Jesus Christ. A few years later I was caught in the grip of intellectual skepticism. For almost ten years I followed the "isms" and theories that lead away from Christianity. In the December of 1897 I was led to re-accept the gospel of Christ in all its fullness. From then until now I have contended for the faith which I had so long lost. To-day I have the very great honor of being president of our convention, that meets in the capital in which I had so many experiences. To me it is a striking coincidence in the working out of destiny, and a very tangible proof of the democracy, good nature and charity of a New Testament church people.

Changes are Occurring.
And now, as we pause for a moment before the opportunities and resources of this great and mighty land, we cannot fail to be deeply impressed with the solemnities and grandeur of the future. This is a wonderful age in which we live. Prophecy is fulfilling rapidly. stupendous enterprises are sweeping away the old kingdoms and thrones of the world. Strange dreams haunt the minds of the prophets about an on-coming age. In clear and challenging tones we hear a voice speaking to us: "Watchman, what of the night; watchman, what of the morning?" When the dawn fully breaks, and the day-star shines out in all its universal splendor, shall we be able to hear those words from the voice of the coming King: "Well done, good and faithful servants, thou hast been faithful over a few things; I will make thee ruler over many things. Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord."

Convention Sermon.
Rev. J. Willard Litch preached the convention sermon from the text: "And He called him and said unto him, How is it with thee? Give an account of thy stewardship." A steward, said the speaker, was one who had been entrusted with funds for another. Mankind had been entrusted with mental, material and spiritual gifts to use for others, and to misappropriate these was to set up wrong. Covetousness was the taproot of sin. The earth and the fulness thereof were the Lord's and those who held it in temporary possession held it but as a trust fund. The great areas of non-producing lands in this western country were the Lord's, and the acting of God's coal cellars, and the acting of food, land, clothing, and property was a misappropriation of those things over which the Heavenly Father had given man the stewardship.

Man had no right to use any more than was necessary for his own subsistence. All talents were the Father's gift to individuals for the use of the world. Capacity spelled responsibility. Christ Himself came not to be ministered unto, but to minister, and the ideal stewardship was that which said: "All that I am and all that I am capable of shall be used in the service of humanity." Spiritual satisfaction was greater than all that material gratification could give. Material things were small as compared with spiritual, and man's rightful use of his possessions would determine his inward good. A man who aggrandized property and material wealth beyond his needs was no more entitled to them than a certain African chief who, on state occasions, wore a coat blazoned with medals and ribbons for distinguished services in campaigns in which he had never taken part. The steward who flched the funds of his steward-

Time of Opportunity.
Successful stewardship could best be accomplished by a clear understanding of what could be accomplished by the use of those things which had been entrusted to us. There was annually a big influx of Russians, Americans, and other peoples to Canada, and in time to come the Dominion would develop cities corresponding in magnitude to Chicago, San Francisco, Salt Lake City, and other big American centres. This was the time of opportunity. The whole of humanity was crying out its needs, and on all sides there were openings for the many to provide others with the things they needed. The work of the labor unions should not be underestimated, nor the work of the churches under-estimated, but after twenty-one years' experience in this country he felt that the nation had an opportunity before it of which it was not making every possible use. The Baptists had a message and a mission.

There was a meaning in the movement toward democracy which was taking place in England to-day, and the churches should act as incubators to bring out the possibilities of the time and mother a strong and vigorous life.

After the chairman had announced a number of changes on the programme and mentioned that the Aged Ministers' Fund would be brought up for discussion during the session, the meeting was dismissed by Rev. H. F. Waring, who pronounced the benediction.

A new kind of steel is reported to have been perfected by Joseph C. Marsh, of Cincinnati. The new metal, it is said, resists files, saws and drills, and while it can be made so hard that no drill will penetrate it, it can be bent to a sharp angle without signs of cracking or flex. Drills made from the steel have been driven by blows of sledge hammers through four inches of solid foundry iron with no signs of breakage or strain. The metal takes a fine polish and is rustless. It is close-grained in texture and weighs more per cubic inch than any other steel on the market.

R. H. HORNE-PAYNE
ON CANADIAN BONDS

Remarks of British Financier
Which Gave Rise to So Much
Feeling in This Country

A great deal of interest has been taken in this province in the remarks attributed to R. H. Horne-Payne regarding Canadian securities, especially those of a municipal nature, so that his actual words on the occasion will be read with interest.

It was at a meeting of the British Empire Trust Company, Limited, of which he is chairman, that Mr. Horne-Payne spoke. In dealing with the operations of the year he is quoted in the London Times as saying:

"If we are unable to meet you this year with as good a record of progress and profits as in past years, I think we are entitled to express great satisfaction in having brought the company so far through a difficult year and at being able to start the new financial year with our reserve fund increased to £150,000, and in a stronger position generally than that in which we started the old one. Our business—our regular commercial business—has been as lucrative as ever, and considerably larger than in any previous year, and it is only owing to the low prices on the stock exchange, resulting from the temporary disturbance of public confidence in all classes of securities, and especially in Canadian securities, that we are unable to show as large profits as we did last year. You will have noticed from the report that this year's valuation of our investments shows a depreciation of over £20,000 compared with last year's valuation, but personally I do not regard this as a loss, as I feel very certain that on their merits our investments will command the old and better prices in time, and that this £20,000 will come back to us and go to swell the profits of future years. I feel that we may look to the future with confidence, for our business is well established, our influence is becoming more and more extensive every year, and our investments are sound, and are now valued at almost par prices."

"Some newspapers attribute the depression in Canadian securities to the Balkan war, to the great demand for money for manufacturing purposes in Great Britain, and to the heavy borrowing by the Canadian railways and industrial companies. The real cause of the loss of confidence of the British investor in the recent forced and badly regulated borrowing of Canadian cities, followed by the news of the voting of fresh expenditures aggregating many millions of pounds. Many Canadian cities have spent, and we hear by every mail are still spending, huge sums before they have raised the money, and consequently have been forced to this risky and costly expedient of securing accommodation for a few months at a time, and whilst their finances are still in this dangerous position they are embarking on further large outlays."

"The British investor has had his confidence in Canadian reliability shaken by witnessing a scramble for money by responsible municipal bodies. He has witnessed month after month one unsuccessful municipal issue succeeding another unsuccessful municipal issue at lower and lower prices, regardless of Canada's credit and reputation—regardless of the sacrifice of power to raise money for industrial and agricultural development in order to provide municipal improvements, which in most cases could be postponed, regardless of the serious loss inflicted on those who had previously bought city bonds. No rate of interest, however high, will tempt more than a small section of the community to invest in city bonds. The reasons alleged for this dislike are that cities raise a constantly increasing and practically unlimited sum on the same assets, and that the city assessment valuation is not an independent or reliable valuation."

"Our investors prefer a railway security, or even an industrial security, gives them a mortgage for a limited amount on something that they can take possession of and in connection with which there is a statement of earnings to inform them where their interest is coming from. It may seem absurd to the uninitiated to attribute the fall in other Canadian public securities and general blue-bottle investments to the fall in city bonds, but this callous destruction of municipal credit thoroughly unsettled the public mind."

"Great harm has been done, but I think the turning point is well in sight. It is being made increasingly evident that British investors will take no more city bonds, and when this is once realized on the other side of the Atlantic there will be no more expensive attempts to force issues on this market, and other Canadian investments will gradually recover their popularity and their prices on their merits. With the exception of these difficulties in city finance, and the troubles of a few small enterprises, there is nothing to cause the least anxiety in connection with Canada. On the contrary, the prosperity of the Dominion is very great, and my advice to you is to leave municipal securities severely alone, and to take this opportunity of investing all the money you can in those sound Canadian railway and industrial investments which have recently fallen most heavily in price. I repeat that there never will be a more favorable opportunity of investing money at a high rate of interest with the certainty of a great increase of capital in the course of a few years."

ORIENTAL PROBLEM.

To the Editor.—I have been an interested reader of the letters in your paper in reference to the Oriental menace. I would like to ask you if it is not against the immigration laws of Canada for any person to pay an immigrant's fare into this country, and what is the penalty if any, and are the Chinamen according to law supposed to pay their own head tax? It is pretty well known who pays both their head tax and passage money and also secures the Chinese peon a job when they land in this white (?) province of British Columbia. I have it on good authority, from a Hong-kong Chinaman, who can read, write and speak English, that at least 20 per cent. is deducted from their wages until both fare and head tax, with fat interest, is paid up. One may write till one has writer's cramp and shout till one is hoarse about this yellow peril, but until the workers get together and oust the present rotten government from power they can howl and write all they are black in the face, for just as long as this capitalistic and Chink-loving government hold sway in white (?) British Columbia the working man will have to fight the subsidized yellow labor. The gall of the Bambergen Cement Co. (who, after they had fired white men to make room for Chinks at $1.00 per day) to come before the Banzich Council and ask that their cement be given a preference over competitors as it is a local industry, is a good example of our patriotic capitalist, who once in a while will let us poor workmen hear their views, and they will tell us we have the most beautiful city, also of the stupendous wealth of this our beautiful island, but when we laboring men ask for a chance to take a little into ourselves what do we find? Chinks preferred. As labor agents the Salvation Army used to be first, but the Chink-loving McBride government have them beat a mile at present and still increasing their lead. Working men, use your brains next election and put in somebody who will give us white men at least an even chance against the Chinamen. Under the present conditions we must come down to their level, for they cannot come up to ours, at least not for two or three generations, so the only thing left for us to do is to change those conditions (which must eventually bring us down to their level) and give our children a chance. So again I appeal to all working men, use the best weapon that you have, viz. the vote, and vote for a white British Columbia and a white Canada. N. SERGEANT, Victoria, B. C., July 2, 1912.

"MIKADO" PLEASES

Teddy McNamara Scores Hit as Ke-ko Pollard Company Well Cast Throughout.

Unlike the opening selection for their stock season "The Mikado" was an opera with which the Pollards were thoroughly familiar and the members of the cast were much more at their ease last evening than last week. Furthermore, in that it was an English production, it was more suitable to the company. Australians, unlike Canadians, adapting themselves to English times and business more readily than to American stage tricks.

One of the strong points of the work of the Pollards is the speed and precision with which they do everything. There is never a dull moment in anything they try and they are not at all inexperienced in introducing a dance or song at a spot where the original production might have dragged.

Teddy McNamara with his shifty feet, marvellous make-up, sudden changes of vocal inflection and a thousand and one other droll and unexpected tricks possesses one of his best parts in "Ke-ko," the tender-hearted lord high executioner, who never even killed a blue-bottle. Nobody would dare assert that he counted the scores accorded vociferously to the singing of "The flowers that bloom in the spring," but in every one he came forward with a totally new way of doing it and fatigue alone, it seemed, prevented him from continuing the performance indefinitely.

Miss Queenie Williams as Pitti-Sing, one of the three little girls from school, did cleverly and daintily the frequent songs and dances which fell to her part, while Miss Eva Pollard, as Nanki-Poo, the disguised minstrel, affected the mannish lover to perfection. Miss Nellie McNamara, as Katisha, was cast in a character part somewhat aside from her usual line of work and not only sang with her usual skill but acted equally well. Leslie Donaghey was fittingly proud as Poo-Bah and Willie Pollard was at his best in the quaint part of the Mikado. Miss Pattie Hill, as the dainty Yum-Yum was encored repeatedly for her songs. One of the most amusing parts in the show was that of Koo-Ban, the umbrella bearer, humorously done by N. Pearce.

Our sales have run into hundreds of lots, still there are plenty of good ones left, some at $100, some at $150 and up. These are not small lots, none being smaller than 50x120 feet.

We have been selling only two weeks and already several families are living on the property. Our contractors have cleared over a mile of roads and are rushing the work to completion.

This property, being only twenty minutes from the city hall is, you might say, selling itself, as those who buy, in nearly all cases, bring their friends in for lots too.

This is the first opportunity the working men of Victoria have had to stop paying rent and our records show that they have been looking for such a chance. Think of it.

THE FOURTH OF JULY

As our people this year are not celebrating in a formal way at this place the anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence, I propose, with the permission of the Times, to submit a few reflections pertinent to the day and the occasion.

The "Declaration" made to the world on that memorable fourth of July, 1776, is as follows:
"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights. That among them are life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. That to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed. That when any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it and institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles and organizing its powers in such form as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness."

We are violating every principle of this "Declaration" in our treatment of eight millions of people in the Philippine Islands.

The government which we have imposed upon them is destructive of the ends for which governments are instituted, which is the right of the people to construct their own government. They have made numerous efforts to do so. Under Spanish rule they were not permitted to do so. When we invaded the island they supposed that we came as their friends and cheered our troops, and immediately set to work to form a constitution to organize a good government. We sent troops to the place of their convention and dispersed them. We entered into a secret conspiracy with the Spaniards to rid us in getting possession of their strongest position in order that we might hold them in subjection.

To justify our perfidy we have constantly claimed that they were not qualified for self-government, not understanding the testimony of army officers and others in a position to know the facts that they were eminently able to take care of themselves if allowed to do so. We pretend also that the better people of the islands desire our rule, and yet we are keeping twenty-five or thirty thousand soldiers there to keep the people in subjection; a people who possess a higher order of refinement than the guards we send. We pretend that they are uncivilized barbarians, and yet the constitutional convention which we dispersed at Balabac carried on its rolls the names of more scholars and linguists than were borne on the rolls of the United States senate. We pretend that they are heathens, and yet a greater proportion of the people there are church members, devoted to their faith, than can be found in any state of our union.

True, there are some savage tribes in some of the islands of the archipelago. So there are in the United States. In order to deceive the people of our country, we have been at great expense to import some of these savages to our country to exhibit them at fairs.

If Great Britain had conquered us in the great revolution, she might have transported a number of our Indians and negroes to Europe to be exhibited at fairs as the kind of people she had conquered in America, and in so doing would have been guilty of the same character of bad faith which we are exhibiting towards the people of the Philippine Islands.

Every intelligent citizen among us knows that we are holding the Philippines, not for the good of those people, but for the benefit of the robbers and looters who are exploiting them.

Let us throw aside this hypocrisy and be honest with them! Others pretend that we are keeping them in order to Christianize them. This was the excuse given by the Plasencia and Cortes for their butchery of the people of Mexico and Peru. Three centuries have passed since the conquests of Mexico and Peru, and it is high time that we of the twentieth century were conforming to more modern civilization.

The Philippine people if left alone would soon have rid themselves of Spanish rule, and I sincerely trust that ere long they may be able to drive from their country every invader, whether he be Spanish or American. I am speaking from the standpoint of an American. Born in that glorious country, my whole heart goes out to her. I glory in her history and venerate her institutions. I am not only an American, but in politics I am a Republican. From Grant to Taft I have supported every Republican candidate and every Republican administration, except in this one matter. I believe that our conduct towards the people of the Philippine Islands has been disgraceful to an extent which it is impossible to properly estimate. It has been one of perfidy and dishonesty. We have been protecting the trusts, the combines, the moneyed men and the adventurers, in a merciless spoliation of those islands, and this over the most solemn protests of those people.

We have been robbing the people of the islands and attempting to justify our course by concealing the real truth and by giving false reasons for our conduct.

Let us surrender the islands to the people to whom they belong, or else throw off the mask of hypocritical religious altruism, and admit that we intend to hold them as long as our speculators can make any money out of them. That is the purpose for which we are holding them, and we ought to have the courage to avow it.

We speak of these islands as our "insular possessions," our "outlying provinces," our "dependencies," etc. This is balderdash! To speak of a republican dependency is to utter a political solecism. There can be no such thing as a republican dependency, for "we hold these truths to be self-evident that all men are created equal."

We shall never be able to conquer these people, and ought not to be able to do so.

You can no more impose a good government on a people than a good religion. The best government for any people is the government that suits them best; or, as Jefferson put it, the least governed are the best governed people.

Adam Smith, the great Scottish financier and philosopher, said that the great mistake made by Great Britain in dealing with her American colonies was, that being unable to make them grown stronger as the ages passed, she did not make them her friends by voluntarily yielding to their demand to be free. There was one way, and one alone, by which we might have conquered the Philippines, and that was by a hearty recognition of their right to be free. By this means we would have chained them to us by ties of love and loyalty that would have grown stronger as the ages passed. But we can never make them love us by force. We may occupy the archipelago a century and yet as time passes they will hate us the more, and ought to do so; we would have no respect for them if they did not. Burke never uttered a greater truth than when he said that, "A people who are always to be conquered are never conquered."

It is very true that the Philippine commission, headed by Mr. Taft, in its report made to the secretary of war November 20, 1900, said that the election of Mr. Roosevelt, the Republican candidate for president, had contributed very materially to the pacification of the Philippines, in that it had brought despair to their hopes of freedom. "From now on," said the commission, "conditions in these islands will grow steadily better."

Happily for the people of the Philippines, happily for the people of the United States, and for all liberty-loving people, this prediction has not been verified, for the struggle still goes on, and will continue to go on until we recognize what our fathers said was a "self-evident proposition," viz: that they are as a matter of right entitled to govern themselves.

longed for the excitements of civilization, of which he had read.

The ambition to return to the white man's world was eclipsed by a greater passion when he met a dusky princess, the daughter of an island king, with whom he immediately fell in love.

For three years the white youth and his dusky bride ruled wisely and well over their subjects. Then one day the Gazelle, the birthplace of the "king," came into port.

White kings of South Sea islands are favorite characters in fiction, but there have been several such in real life.

Perhaps the most famous of the Pacific island monarchs was Capt. Benjamin S. Osbon.

He was the son of a South Sea trader, and was born on the brig Gazelle seventy-four years ago to-day.

FIVE ORIENTAL BRIDAL COUPLES

All Had to Get the Sanction of the Courts Before They Could Marry; Under Age

The tender passion seems to attack the Oriental at this season of the year just as violently as it does the youth of white skin. In their case, so far from their native lands, they seldom have a parent or guardian to give consent to their marriage, and so find themselves confronted with the necessity of getting a solemn declaration from the courts before the sheriff will provide them with the necessary license which will allow of the wedding taking place.

There were no fewer than five cases before Mr. Justice Murphy this morning in chambers, and in all of them his warm Irish feeling of sympathy with young lovers, after his cold legal mind had been satisfied of the bona fides of the applicants, led to his granting them the desired declaration that the marriages they proposed were proper ones, and that the circumstances were such as to warrant the sheriff in issuing licenses in the absence of parental consent.

The case of Choo Soon and Low Shee was in a different class from that of the others dealt with to-day. They are already a married couple, but before settling down in their Canadian home they thought they would like to be married again according to the form of this country, so that there should be no legal question at any future time. The circumstances were explained to the court by R. C. Lowe, who appeared for Chong Soon.

For the past fifteen years the applicant has resided in Canada, his home being in Vancouver, where he has a news agency and conducts a general business as a merchant. He is thirty-six years old. Last summer he took a trip to his old home, and while there fell in love with and married Miss Low Shee, the wedding taking place on November 24 at Macow, her parents consenting to the marriage. The couple lately returned to the bridegroom's Canadian home, and decided that having a regular white marriage, but the bride's age, twenty on her next birthday, was a bar to obtaining a license in the absence of any proof that her parents consented.

There were four Japanese cases, in which T. M. Miller acted. The groom was Kitayo Yanaka, Masa Yukawa, Kinuno Tsumida, and Maki Tokimitsu. In all these cases the brides are what are known as "picture brides," and come here to be married, but as they are all young and lack the consent of their legal guardians their prospective husbands had to ask the court's assistance before they could reach the altar.

WOULD ALTER DATE FOR "NEW ZEALAND"

Citizens Wish Visiting Ship to Be in Port During Carnival Festivities

Arrangements are beginning to take shape for the reception to be tendered the officers and crew of H. M. S. New Zealand on the occasion of their visit here this month. The vessel will arrive at Esquimalt three weeks from to-day, and will be met on behalf of the Dominion government by Hon. J. D. Hansen, minister of marine and fisheries; members of the provincial government, and the city council.

It is expected that success will attend the representations which are being made to have the dates switched over so that the visit to Vancouver may occur immediately after the formal reception and that the Dradnought may be brought back in time for the opening of Carnival week. Mayor Morley is in touch with the minister of marine, and G. H. Barnard, M. P., is also in communication with Ottawa, in an effort to have the dates changed. The formal reception will be held on the day of arrival, and if it is found impossible to change the dates, the government will probably give a reception at the Parliament buildings on the following day. Otherwise it will be postponed until the return from Vancouver.

Sir Richard McBride received an influential delegation from the Daughters of Empire this morning to talk over the share of that society in the programme. It was resolved to set aside the Tuesday after arrival for a ball at the Empress hotel, at which the invitations will be limited to about 500 guests. The large ballroom has already been secured for the event, together with necessary retiring rooms.

EVAPORATION HAS EFFECT

Conservation at Elk Lake Will Feel Influence—City in Good Position.

While the conservation of the water at Elk lake would suggest the hoarding of the supply for the next four months, the evaporation from the lake is so considerable that the actual storage is not as large as should be the case. It is expected that before the summer is out the narrows between Beaver and Elk lakes will be dry. Without the Goldstream supply the city might be facing a water famine now. However, the overhaul now being carried out below the intake will be completed this week, and the whole plant will be kept in such a shape that within an hour of an emergency arising, the whole system of water will be available for fire protection or similar purposes.

There is also the storage supply in Smith's Hill reservoir. No city in Canada to-day is better placed with an auxiliary service to face a conflagration, so that the reduction in the fire insurance rates looked for by every household is expected to take effect shortly.

The cleaning operations at Smith's Hill reservoir have been completed and the water was turned in to the second compartment to-day, the intention being to raise the level to about 19 feet, so that a large quantity of water may be on hand at all times. This is the first time that the reservoir has been cleaned out since it was filled after repairs last summer, and with fresh mountain water therein the city will feel a sense of satisfaction this summer such as never has previously been the case. It is a commentary on the vagaries of the weather that the comparative famine of May, 1912, was due to an excessively warm spell, while this year there has been practically no demand upon the supply for garden and park watering.

Saanich Paving Contract.—This afternoon the officials of the department of public works commenced an examination of the bitulithic paving contracts, with a view to making a report to the government on the whole question, prior to the government's approving the award of the contracts to the Warren Construction Company, 241 the Worwick Paving Company,

MEETINGS

Real Estate Exchange.—The Real Estate Exchange has decided to hold the oral call meetings once a week only hereafter, on Wednesday mornings at 10 o'clock, until September 1. After that date the tri-weekly meetings will be resumed.

Sunday Lecture.—Dr. T. W. Butler will lecture at the Progressive Thought Temple, corner of Pandora avenue and Blanchard street, Sunday at 8 p.m. on the subject "After Death, What?"

First Baptist Services.—The First Baptist church has leased the Dominion theatre for one year, and Sunday services henceforth will be held there instead of at the temporary premises hitherto in use. The magnificent new organ is included in the arrangements, and will add greatly to the attractiveness of the services, the choral part to be supplied by the quartette choir. Rev. J. B. Warnicker will conduct the services there as heretofore.

Scoutmasters to Meet.—On Tuesday next at 8 p.m. there will be a meeting of the Scoutmasters at the headquarters, Broughton street.

A gas-lighted beacon has been established by the government of Canada on Triple Island, being the most northerly island of a group of bare white islets in the western entrance of Brown Passage. Lat. N. 54 deg. 17 min. 37 sec. Long. W. 139 deg. 53 min. 25 sec. Triple Island is in line with the N. E. extreme of Rachel Island and the N. E. extreme of Osborn Island, 5 deg. 28 sec. E. (True). The beacon consists of a steel cylindrical tank surmounted by a steel framework all painted red with the name stencilled in white. The light is a white acetylene light automatically occulted at short intervals and is elevated 47 feet above high water and should be visible 15 miles from all point of approach.

FIREMEN GOT DRUNK; STEAM DROPPED AND WORK STOPPED

Leaving several of her seamen behind, the Harrison liner Comedian, Capt. Nathan, departed for Vancouver early this morning. The big steamship was delayed slightly in getting her cargo off here, owing to the fact that some of the firemen refused duty. The stokers had waterfront drinks yesterday afternoon and were unable to keep the fires in the furnaces going. The consequence was that the steam pressure stopped, and finally the longshoremen had to tie off, as there was not sufficient steam to turn over the winches.

This morning there was another outbreak aboard the ship. This time it was the seamen who gave the trouble. They had followed the course of the stokers and taken liquor. The patrol was out again this morning and brought in another couple of disturbers. The men were arraigned in the police court this morning and were fined, with the option of spending a few days in jail.

CITY OF SEATTLE LEAKING.

San Francisco, July 4.—In a telegram received from Marshfield, Ore., the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce was informed to-day that the steamer City of Seattle, from Seattle to San Francisco in tow of steamer William Chapman, is leaking badly off the Coos Bay lighthouse. As soon as the tide permits, the lighthouse tender Manzanillo will be sent out to sea and take the distressed vessel in tow to Coos Bay.

FRIEDA MAHN COMING

San Francisco, July 4.—The German barque Frieda Mahn, due at Callao from Hamburg, has been chartered by David Bruce & Son, of London, for lumber from Puget Sound to Hamburg by the steamer 'Lara'. The vessel is a small carrier of 1,350 tons net register, and is the first vessel chartered for lumber to Europe in several weeks.

PRESIDENT B. H. WEST HAS LONG PASTORATE

Came Here in 1885; Recalls Past Ministers in Same Church Nine Years

Rev. B. H. West, president of the Baptist convention, who arrived in the city yesterday afternoon from Vancouver, is one of the longest-stationed of any of the Baptist ministers in the province of British Columbia, having held his present pastorate for the last nine years. In a country of such constant changes, and in a church which has no terms to bind its ministers for any considerable period, this is quite a notable record.

Mr. West came to this country in 1885 from Tacoma, making the journey across the Straits on the old Georige Star, remembered by many old-timers who made trips on this small steamer. The C. P. R. in those days had not been completed, and Mr. West, at that time unacquainted with the coast of British Columbia. This had been encouraged by the good pay offered by the railway building at the time, and the influx of great numbers of Asiatics who were willing to work for less than white men, had made it difficult for the latter to obtain employment. Nearly three thousand people attended the mass meeting in question, when a resolution to the effect that the Celestials should be taxed $100 per head on their arrival in this country was forwarded to Sir John A. Macdonald at Ottawa. Shortly after this the government passed the Chinese bill imposing the $50 head tax, which was subsequently increased, on every Chinese coming into Canada.

Mr. West, a resident of the city for 33 years, is able to speak with some knowledge of the changes which have come about since that time, and, after an absence from the city of nearly fifteen years, during which he has made only short visits here, to compare it with other cities. The result has not been to the detriment of Victoria, which, he told a Times reporter this morning, he still considers the most beautiful city in the Dominion, especially with regard to its surroundings. With respect to its business atmosphere, he says that one of the first things he is conscious of on arriving here is the comparative respectfulness of the people, and the lack of infection by the commercial spirit which pervades other western cities to such an unfortunate degree.

Position is Biblical. When questioned as to his views on the matter of church union, the convention president said that the Baptists had not considered this subject seriously, as they contend that their position is Biblical, and that there is only one possible foundation for redemption—the baptism of believers by immersion. The Baptist church, he contended, had always been noted for its democratic doctrines, each church being a little power unto itself, and having no authority, as an organization, higher than the individual churches. The solution of all the great social problems of the time, could only come, said Rev. Mr. West in conclusion, with the second coming of Christ, when there would be a restoration of Theocracy and world peace.

Millions of flints are produced annually in England by "knappers" who use much the same tools and work in much the same manner as did the men of the Neolithic Age. The flints so far Africa, South America and China. Flintlock muskets are still used by many negroes in the depths of Africa, and shipments of the bits of stone find ready market in those benighted regions.

IN MEMORY OF WOLSELEY

is Expected Canadians Will Share in Erecting Fitting Memorial to Great Soldier.

A movement in which it is expected Canadians will be well represented has been started with the object of erecting in memory of the late Lord Wolseley a memorial which will fittingly mark his long and valuable services to the Empire. H. R. H. the Duke of Connaught is patron of the movement and the general committee which has the organization in hand includes Field Marshal Earl Roberts, Field Marshal Viscount Kitchener, Field Marshal Lord Grenfell, Field Marshal Sir Evelyn Wood, the Lord High Chamberlain, Earl Grey, the Earl of Minto, Lord Cromer, the Bishop of London, Admiral Lord Charles Beresford, Admiral of the Fleet Sir Charles Hotham, and many other men prominent in military, naval and other walks of life in the Old Land. While the work of organization is being conducted from London it is felt that the Overseas Dominions will desire to have a share in perpetuating the memory of the great soldier by means of a memorial which will be commensurate with his greatness. Subscriptions are being received by Lloyd's Bank, St. James's Street, London, E.W., and at its branches; by Messrs. Cox & Company, 1 Charing Cross, S. W., and the company's branches in India, and by the secretary of the committee, Capt. A. D. Buzzard, 74 Grosvenor Street, London, W. The committee states that all amounts will be welcomed and asks that no one be deterred from assisting by the smallness of the sum he may feel able to give. From 1852, when he joined the army as an ensign, to the end of 1900, when he ceased active work after having been commander-in-chief for five years, Field Marshal Lord Wolseley's life showed an unbroken record of devotion to duty and of an untiring desire to employ in the best interests of his country the brilliant gifts he possessed. The Jews in New York number about 900,000, one-thirtieth of the entire race.

"A STITCH IN TIME"

There might be a modern version of that old adage to the effect that "A penny spent in time will often save a dime."

Nowhere is the truth of this revised adage more easily demonstrated than in the proper use of the best newspapers of the day. If you are planning a trip, if you wish to go to a theatre, a lecture, to church, if you need to buy practically any article of ordinary use, spend your copper for a good newspaper, and turn to the advertising columns for the latest information on the subject you have in mind. Make a practice of doing this and you will find that you save yourself both time and trouble and that many a dime that might have been wasted has either been saved or spent in such a way that you have attained the maximum of value from it.

Feeble spending wastes more money than wilful extravagance. In justice to yourself, you must keep in touch with what is in the market. Buy a newspaper and save your dimes by reading the advertisements regularly.
